School Report

FOR THE YEAR 1890.

—o—

TEACHERS.

Miss Mary Hall of Nottingham, a graduate from Coe's Academy, has been employed in town for three years, which is proof that she has won the confidence of the School Board in her vocation, and wherever she is located success is sure to crown her efforts.

Annie L. Rollins is a graduate of Rochester High school. She entered the school-room with a firm resolution to perform her duties and she did not labor in vain. The primary classes were taught from the blackboard and advanced rapidly. She was highly esteemed by scholars and parents.

Grace F. Hill is a graduate from Dover High school. Her method of teaching made a lasting impression upon the minds of the scholars and success was her reward.

Elizabeth F. Ephriam of Berwick, Me., has taught five terms in town. She has excellent educational abilities and with some modifications in government will become a popular teacher.

M. Abbie McDuffee, a student from Franklin Academy, has a very pleasant and instructive way of imparting knowledge to others. In the Hale school her method was new to them and some did not favorably accept her, but she gave universal satisfaction to the school board. In the Winkley school she met with unbounded success and was very prominent with all who made her acquaintance.

Bertha M. Reynolds of Milton, a late student of Northwood

Seminary, is a close reader of human nature, ambitious to excel. She entered upon her duties with an interest in every scholar and at once enjoyed the love and respect of scholars and the approbation of parents; under these circumstances, it is our pleasure to say, the school under her excellent training made commendable progress.

Mattie E. Wood, Lilla L. Swain, students from Franklin Academy, and Ida M. Varney are young ladies of promise and labored hard for success With close application and a determination to succeed, we predict for them all the merits of teachers.

E. Jennie Small of Nottingham, a graduate from Northwood Seminary is a very pleasing and energetic teacher. Her school consisted of few scholars and much time could be devoted to each class, and the result met the approval of all.

Carrie S. Thompson of Epping is a very brilliant and ambitious teacher but without experience. It was a hard school for her to govern. Placed in a different locality she will be a very able teacher.

Sadie E. Ryan of Lee, a student from Franklin Academy, is a model teacher of some experience. Feeling the responsibility of her calling she desired to make this term the crowning one of her school work, and faithfully she performed every duty. Discipline, thoroughness and practical training won for her the entire confidence of all.

Fannie Montgomery of Strafford, a student from Austin Academy, has a systematic way of performing school labor that is very instructive and easily wins the confidence of her scholars.

Lizzie H. Bunker of Dover, a student from Wellesley College, had charge of the Waldron's Hill school one week. On account of sickness she had to resign her position. She is a highly accomplished young lady and if she could have remained would have made a very efficient and commendable teacher.

Winifred W. Kelly, a graduate from Rochester High school, was without experience and labored hard for honors which she won.

Georgianna Montgomery of Strafford, a graduate of Austin academy, was an experienced teacher, very prepossessing and gracefully commanded her school. The examination proved that dilligence and practical work had been their motto.

Hattie E Pickering, a graduate of Rochester High school, possesses strong ambition and self confidence, with more experience will rank with teachers of the first class.

Mabel F. Hodgdon is an experienced teacher in town and has always proved herself an excellent disciplinarian. At the expiration of five weeks she closed her school on account of sickness in her family.

Elizzie D. Felker a graduate from New Hampton, possesses rare qualifications as a teacher her motto being "excellere." She has instructed this school three years and is worthy the honor due her in making it the first school in town. Her services as a teacher are indispensable.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Under the free text-book law we deemed it expedient to change some of the books. Therefore we have changed all except Book-keeping, C. S. Geography and History.

We have purchased

227 copies of Raub's Arithmetic.
133 " " Grammar.
372 " New Normal Reader.
170 " Buckwalter's Speller.
42 " Dunglison's Physiology.

48 copies of Harper's C. S. Geography.
3 " Butler's Physical Geography.
3 " Sharpless' Geometry.
18 " Barnes' U. S. History.
36 " Browns' Algebra.
12 " Meservey's Book-keeping.
36 set of blanks for Meservey's Book-keeping.
45 doz. Practical Writing books.

Each book has been marked as the property of the town of Barrington and the year, and each book has been covered. A book closet has been made and placed in each school for the safety of the books.

School-buildings have had few repairs the past year. Some of them need shingling and most of them painting on the inside.

SCHOOLS.

As a class our schools have made a rapid and thorough advancement, some of them competing with our neighboring High schools and academies; in others it has not been so marked, our reasons being, the irregular attendance, the change of teachers and the objection to the black board and oral method of teaching.

We favor this system and when fully developed cannot fail to meet the approval of every one.

Charts, globes and maps should be placed in every school to meet the requirements of the scholars; a better explanation could be made and a firmer impression made on their minds.

Our best endeavors have been used for the more regular attendance of scholars, and in some cases the law has been used to a certain extent. We believe parents are at fault. They are too prone to favor reports of scholars without an investigation. If they would be more considerate of the responsibilities resting upon a teacher we feel there would be less trouble. It should be their first thought, "what is best for my children," and taking a child from school without proper cause is an injury characteristic to that child. It is our firm belief that truant officers should be elected for each school for the future educational prosperity of the town.

EZRA S. HALL.
W. H. S. NASON.

The New Hampshire State Library.

Concord, Sept 22 1891.

Town Clerk and Selectmen of

Barrington

Several weeks ago circulars were sent you calling your attention to an Act (Pamphlet Laws, 1891, chapter 4, sections 10, 12 and 14), making it your duty to send to this library two copies each of every printed report published under the authority of your town.

Town officers have, for the most part, willingly complied with the Act. A few, including those of your town, have not. The failure of these threatens to destroy the efforts of all and to defeat the object of the Act, which is to place for permanent preservation and reference upon the shelves of a central library, a complete set, from year to year, of the official reports of every town within the state, so far as printed.

You will notice that under section 14 of said Act, you have become liable to the penalty mentioned therein, for non-compliance with the provisions of the Act.

Immediate attention, by you, to this matter, is now expected. Otherwise it will become my duty to bring the law to your notice in a more direct manner.

Yours truly,

ARTHUR R. KIMBALL,

Librarian.
